The new SDK has turned Notebook into a powerful development platform, with extensive possibilities for teachers, developers and publishers to create new dynamic content.

New widgets will bring dynamic, connected content and interactive tools into Notebook. Widgets will be available to download from the SMART Exchange.
Other new SMART Additions

SMART Notebook Interactive Viewer

Will allow users to download, at no charge a basic version of SMART Notebook to view and interact with content offline.

Users can view SMART Notebook software pages, make annotations with digital ink, play Flash content and page recordings and interact with widgets, animations and activities.
SMART Notebook Express

Lightweight web based version of SMART Notebook available at no charge.

Instant access to some of the popular editing and delivery features found in SMART Notebook software. You can open any SMART Notebook file and interact with the content by writing notes in digital ink, editing text, opening website links and viewing multimedia files.

You can also share your interactive material with anyone even with other teachers who don’t have a SMART Board Interactive Whiteboard or SMART Notebook software.

ELECTROBOARD has recently submitted a response to the Refresh of Offers (DETPR-22-11-R) Affordable Classroom Technology RFQ. LessonCreateon Software was a large component of the requirements and our response addressed software licensing on both SMART and non-SMART Boards. The RFQ is currently being evaluated by NSW DEC Procurement and we await their decision.
Research consistently finds that quality teaching is the leading influence on student outcomes. Research indicates the most effective professional learning is relevant, future-focused and collaborative.
